Stand Up For Life – Thank You & Save the Date!

The Stand Up For Life event held October 4th was a wonderful and meaningful gathering. There were approximately 200 people in Huntington and 50 people in Manorville. Unfortunately, the weather was not cooperating. While we had room for many more attendees, we are truly grateful for all who came out to stand in support of the dignity of human life. Thank you also to our volunteers. The LICL could not continue with this event without the many dedicated volunteers!

Please mark your calendars for next year's event on Sunday, October 3, 2027. Let's make it an even greater show of unity and purpose! For 30 years, the Long Island Coalition for Life has been a dedicated sponsor of this event. Come out next year to show your appreciation for their steadfast commitment and to Stand Up for the protection of all human Life.

We continue to be FAITHFUL, VIGILANT and COMMITTED to defending LIFE!

Visitors to an LICL booth at a recent street fair

Two young men (early 20s) proactively approached the Long Island Coalition for Life booth at a street fair in Suffolk. It's unusual to have young adults come to the table and declare that they're pro-life! One young man wanted to hear what our pro-life message was. He was well-versed in the euthanasia tragedies in Canada and elsewhere. The other fellow said he agreed with pro-life but had a difficult time defending it when the child would be born into terrible circumstances. He specifically gave the example that he could understand why parents in Gaza would choose abortion instead of bringing their child into that situation.

Four tween-age boys (~11yr) saw the "True or False" spinner wheel at our booth. One boy's spin landed on the statement: Abortion is legal in NYS during all 9 months of pregnancy. He said False. He was horrified to learn it was True. His three friends took turns spinning the wheel and learned a tidbit of pro-life information before walking away. The set of fetal models (9 weeks-26weeks) caught the eye of two other young boys. They just kept looking, not quite believing they could have been that size. When one of the mothers came over, one boy asked, "Was I really that small?"

Street fairs, health fairs, ministry fairs and the like are great opportunities to reach audiences that don't receive pro-life information or may sometimes even be deliberately shielded from pro-life messaging. If you would like information on setting up your own pro-life booth, please contact the LICL at info@prolifeLI.org or 631-243-1435.

Build Pro-Life Awareness – Invite an LICL Speaker

The Long Island Coalition for Life thanks St. Frances de Chantal Knights of Columbus Council for hosting Celeste Broyles, Nassau Vice-Chair of the LICL, as a speaker at one of its recent meetings. The Knights, Columbiettes, clergy and other guests were enthusiastically receptive to Ms. Broyles' encouragement to become educated on pro-life issues and more actively involved in the right to life mission.

The Long Island Coalition for Life would be happy to speak with your organization to help build pro-life awareness and engage more people in this critical movement. Whether a gathering of 5 or 25, we welcome an invitation to meet. In addition to right to life groups, we're interested in speaking with K of C councils, youth groups (especially needed!), CDAs, various ministry groups, and others.

Possible speaking topics include:

In Vitro Fertilization: Videos that describe/discuss IVF – what it is, how it is done, and some pitfalls from a pro-life perspective.

Abortion Pill Reversal: Video by American Association of Pro-life Ob/Gyns explaining chemical abortion and APR. It debunks statements by pro-abortionists who are trying to stop APR.

Assisted Suicide: Presentation on New York's assisted suicide law (MAID) and pro-life objections to assisted suicide or a presentation with a video by Wesley Smith explaining the fundamental case against assisted suicide and euthanasia.

Making the Case for Life: Video by Trent Horn who gives guidelines & insight to help pro-lifers speak persuasively and kindly to those who disagree with or don't understand pro-life positions.

If you have other suggestions or topics of interest, please contact the LICL at 631-243-1435 or info@prolifeLI.org.

FEDERAL LEGISLATION

The new term for the United States Supreme Court began October 5. There are no major life issues cases scheduled to be heard this term.

U.S. Senator Hawley is still promoting the Safeguarding Women from Chemical Abortion Act HR.7902/S.4066, to end the FDA's approval of mifepristone (RU-486) in "the termination of intrauterine pregnancy." The bills sit in committees in their respective houses, with under a dozen cosponsors (none from NY). Critics say the abortion industry has substitute drugs ready to go if mifepristone is prohibited. (The second drug in the abortion pill regimen, misoprostol, has been used alone for chemical abortions. Misoprostol is an FDA-approved drug used for ulcers. It is used off-label for chemical abortion. It causes contractions and expels the preborn child.)

The House Democrats' plan if they win Congress includes a concerted effort to make abortion on demand the law nationwide. HR.12, the so-called Women's Health Protection Act would effectively permit abortion up to birth nationwide by overriding state-level restrictions. It would override 'pro-life' laws in states with abortion limits or 'bans.' The bill has over 200 Democrat cosponsors, including Long Island representatives Suozzi and Gillen. Under the bill, post viability abortions would be legally protected nationwide whenever a single healthcare provider deems the procedure "necessary for life or health" reasons – which can be defined as virtually anything.

On October 7, the FDA announced that the long-awaited safety review of the abortion drug mifepristone will not be finished until March 2027. The review had been ordered in a lawsuit brought by Louisiana, which argues that mailing the pill undermines the state's abortion ban. The FDA told the Federal court it expects to complete a safety study by mid-December, with a report on the findings "no later than March 2027." The FDA will not decide on whether to change how mifepristone is prescribed or distributed until after the report is finished. It is using "a statistical data mining method" to look for "unknown safety concerns" in an electronic database of medical injuries and drug side effects and is also weighing petitions to change prescribing and distribution rules. The FDA itself has stated that Sentinel Two data has limitations. The FDA stated, "Following completion of its study and review, FDA will decide whether changes to the Mifepristone REMS Program are necessary, and, if applicable, initiate any such changes in accordance with established processes."

Pro-life leaders have called the new timetable a delay, not a review. John Mize of Americans United for Life

(AUL) said, "...we have seen no public evidence this review has actually begun, much less any substantial progress made." Gavin Oxley of AUL stated, "The administration continues to find itself on the wrong side of women's health, clearly uninterested in mitigating the ongoing harms caused by the abortion pill." Marjorie Dannenfelser of Susan B. Anthony Pro-Life America said, "Twenty months in, we're still not seeing the gold standard study that was promised. The Trump administration must act by settling the case with Louisiana and ending mail-order abortion." Gabriella McIntyre, legal counsel for Alliance Defending Freedom said that since the review won't be completed until Spring 2027, it is unlikely that the FDA would be able to act on the results until the next presidential administration. She said, "The best-case scenario would be for the FDA to enter into a consent decree with Louisiana."

Pro-life groups have asked HHS, the Department of Justice, the Small Business Administration and the Treasury to "debar" Planned Parenthood, thus revoking its status as a "qualified federal vendor". Planned Parenthood would then no longer be able to do business with any Federal agency (e.g. Medicaid and Title X) or federal contractor (even third-party contractors) for up to 3 years.

128 Republican lawmakers, (Garbarino and LaLota are not on the list) have asked the HHS Inspector General to work with other Federal agencies on a "comprehensive review", looking for violations in how Planned Parenthood spends HHS money. The letter said 'Administrative remedies' should result from proven fraud. Weeks earlier Do No Harm told the HHS IG that their investigation of PP (2015-2025) showed over 1000 cases where PP may have changed office-visit codes to claim prescriptions for "sex-rejecting hormones" were medically necessary.

NEW YORK STATE LEGISLATION

On July 31, a judge ruled in Carmelite Sisters for the Aged and Infirm v. James that NYS should not force four orders of Catholic nuns and several Catholic healthcare ministries to cooperate with the MAID law while the case proceeds.

New York State will destroy about 150,000 abortion pills that expired. Governor Hochul's administration bought the stockpile in 2023 for $112,000. The pills are misoprostol, the second drug in the chemical abortion regimen. The pills were never used. The NYS Department of Health will destroy the pills which amount to about 12,500 doses. Hochul directed her team to stockpile the drug after the 2022 Dobbs decision overturning Roe v. Wade. Hochul spokesperson Nicolette Simmonds said, "At a time when access to reproductive health care was under threat by the federal government, Governor Hochul took action to ensure New Yorkers would not be left without options. She will always fight to ensure that New York remains a safe haven for reproductive rights."

HEALTH & SCIENCE: Surrogacy

Gestational surrogacy accounts for over 95% of modern surrogacy ‘arrangements.’ Embryos are created in a lab via in vitro fertilization (IVF) using either the intended parents’ or donors’ eggs and sperm and are then transferred to the carrier (surrogate). Traditional surrogacy involved artificial insemination of the surrogate’s own eggs (IUI). It is rarely used today due to legal and emotional custody issues. Altruistic surrogacy – a family member or friend who carries a child without compensation – is extremely rare.

On September 13, 2026, CBS News carried a story by Cara Tabachnick, Katrina Kaufman and Sari Aviv entitled, “Who do we hand the baby to?” Loopholes and shady practices taint U.S. surrogacy industry.” The CBS article noted that the United States is the only developed nation where surrogacy is legal. Canada, the U.K., Australia and Greece allow altruistic surrogacy, but commercial financial compensation is illegal. France, Germany, Italy, and Spain ban all forms of surrogacy. In Italy it is considered a universal crime – prosecution can occur if surrogacy is contracted in another country. On the other hand, the United States has a commercial surrogacy market for both domestic and international parents. The base compensation that surrogates receive ranges from $30,000 to $60,000. In addition, medical expenses are usually covered.

The CBS article stated that in the United States, “few, if any meaningful protections exist for surrogates. There is no official tally of surrogacy births in the U.S., but those in the field estimate there are up to about 10,000 a year. Industry insiders told CBS that women can enter into agency contracts unaware they may carry children simultaneously with other surrogates for the same intended parents or carry for foreign nationals who may never enter the country.”

No federal agencies track surrogate births. CBS reported, “Many foreign nationals travel to California when hiring surrogates.” A fertility lawyer said California has “the most favorable laws and geographically we are the largest state closest to mainland China or Taiwan.” CBS said that “efforts across the country to protect surrogates and infants from potential bad actors have largely stalled.” Melissa Brisman, an attorney, stated, “In most American’s minds, it’s completely unethical [for one set of parents] to have 20 surrogates going at the same time in different states without their knowledge. But there are no laws governing the number of surrogates intended parents can use.” She said the money involved “incentivizes silence.”

A federal bill introduced last November would ban citizens of some countries, like China, from contracting for surrogacy services in the United States. But some in the field argue that “targeting nationality rather than enhancing overall safeguards “will only drive the practice underground or overseas to places with even weaker protections.” When a child is created using IVF, embryologists ‘grade’ an embryo’s appearance and development to select the best ones for transfer or freezing. Eugenics is certainly involved in finding the strongest ones most likely to ‘stick’ (implant). Intended parents can also usually choose the sex of the child when IVF and genetic testing is done.

Anita Blanchard reported in The Human Life Review (8/11/26), “Surrogacy contracts currently allow the intended parents to dictate pregnancy termination [abortion] for any reason from medical disabilities shown in the child to change in the parents’ situation to dissatisfaction with the child’s gender. Surrogate mothers who refuse abortion face lost income and lawsuits.” The recent case of the woman who refused to abort after the child she was carrying in a surrogacy agreement was diagnosed with hypoplastic left heart syndrome received national attention. The woman traveled from Alaska to Texas where the child was born and received lifesaving care. The parents then went to court and were granted custody of the child. Their lawyer stated the surrogate mother’s “baseless attempt to interfere with his medical care has been soundly rejected by the courts...Right now, our clients are continuing to place their baby’s health and well-being first, following the advice of the baby’s medical team, as they always have and just as any loving parent would.” These parents were demanding the child be aborted!

Representative Amy Ogles of Tennessee reintroduced the Preventing Forced Abortions Act of 2026 which would prevent federal courts from enforcing contract provisions that force surrogate mothers to abort and ensure that the surrogate mother receives compensation even if she refuses to abort. A better solution would be to ban surrogacy completely. It exploits vulnerable women and commodifies both the mother and child. Preborn children are killed in the womb if they don’t meet the ‘qualifications or standards’ of the parents. In addition, thousands of ‘leftover’ embryos created through IVF are either destroyed or frozen or ‘donated’ for research where they are experimented upon and destroyed.

Anti Assisted Suicide Message Travels Long Island

This past September 17, 18 and 19, the Long Island Coalition for Life Educational Trust sponsored a mobile billboard truck that criss-crossed Nassau and Suffolk counties. The digital messages that rotated on three sides of the truck read:

- 1 -- Don't Help People Kill Themselves. Assisted Suicide is Still Suicide.
- 2 -- Assisted Suicide Kills! Do Better for Those Suffering. Say NO to Assisted Suicide.
- 3 -- Assisted Suicide is Still Suicide. Support Suicide Prevention for Everyone, Suicide Assistance for No One.

The truck was seen by thousands as it traveled the major secondary roads, such as Sunrise Highway, Hempstead Turnpike, Jericho Tpke., Route 110 and others. The LICL Educational Trust thanks its donors for making campaigns like this possible. Just because assisted suicide is now legal in New York State, doesn't make it right. We appreciate your help for us to continue to inform Long Islanders with right to life communications.

ABORTED BABY WINS SETTLEMENT

For the first time, the estate of a "26-week-old viable fetus" and a "person" under New Mexico's Wrongful Death Act, has collected a $200K settlement as per Wabington v. Boyd. The defendants included late-term abortionist Curtis Wayne Boyd. It is the first payout of its kind to an aborted baby treated as a person, "entitled to equal protection under the law of New Mexico and the US." Attorney Mike Seibel cited another 'first' - an abortionist sued for wrongful death of the baby. Women have sued before. This suit alleged the mom was high on methamphetamine at the abortuary, and thus unable to give informed consent. Both she, and the baby's estate, sued for wrongful death. Seibel notes abortion is still legal in New Mexico, despite this settlement. (Lifenews.com 9/24/26)

HYDE AMENDMENT TURNS 50

On September 30, 1976, pro-life congressman Henry Hyde's amendment preventing taxpayer funding of abortion in the US became law. The "Amendment" is a collection of legislative riders and provisions. It expires every year; it is not permanent. Therefore, Congress must vote to renew and re-insert the language every year. Originally, it only applied to Medicaid. Over the 50 years, it has expanded to include appropriations for the Departments of War, Justice, Veterans, Interior and State, as well as Federal Employee Health Benefits. House and Senate Democrats are united against Hyde and favor pro-abortion federal legislation allowing and funding abortion up to birth. Democrats promise to 'eviscerate' Hyde within 100 hours if they win control of Congress.
